14. Post-Socialist Welfare Systems

Summary:

Post-Socialist Health Care System in Hungary

The paper will deal with the development of the Hungarian health care system. It will highlight the most important turning points of the evolution from the state dominated (universal) health care system to the recent health care insurance. It will also tackle the past reforms and recent challenges.

It will show some social policy dilemma at national level from the perspective of how can treat the problems -due to the influence of the global crisis-, such as “unprovided” people, health care financing ...
